

Residents in apartment complexes and neighborhoods frequently dispose of trash and recyclables incorrectly because the rules for sorting waste are confusing, inconsistent across different buildings and municipalities, and poorly communicated.